John,

I thought I'd be different to write on this page & to write in pencil. My picture isn't in here since I only came 2nd semester, but I'm sure you'll remember me as a dumb blond huh!? What would I have done without you & Burtis & Dan-or Danny? Probably failed. Maybe I'll see you somewhere, sometime, somehow this summer. I'll come watch one of your baseball games k? If not, maybe I'll be lucky & get you in one of my classes at Browne. Be good & watch yourself for me. You're a real sweet & considerate guy. See ya

Burnett, Myers close careers after ten years serving MHS

Cutting birthday cakes is a specialty of Principal Louis Burnett (above). He has been here to cut the cake ever since Maryvale opened back in 1963. Paper work (center) is necessary but unloved by the principal. Like Burnett, Associate Principal Elzie Myers (far right) has been here since Maryvale opened and like Burnett, this is his last year. He works on the schedule (bottom center) with Mrs. Ralph.

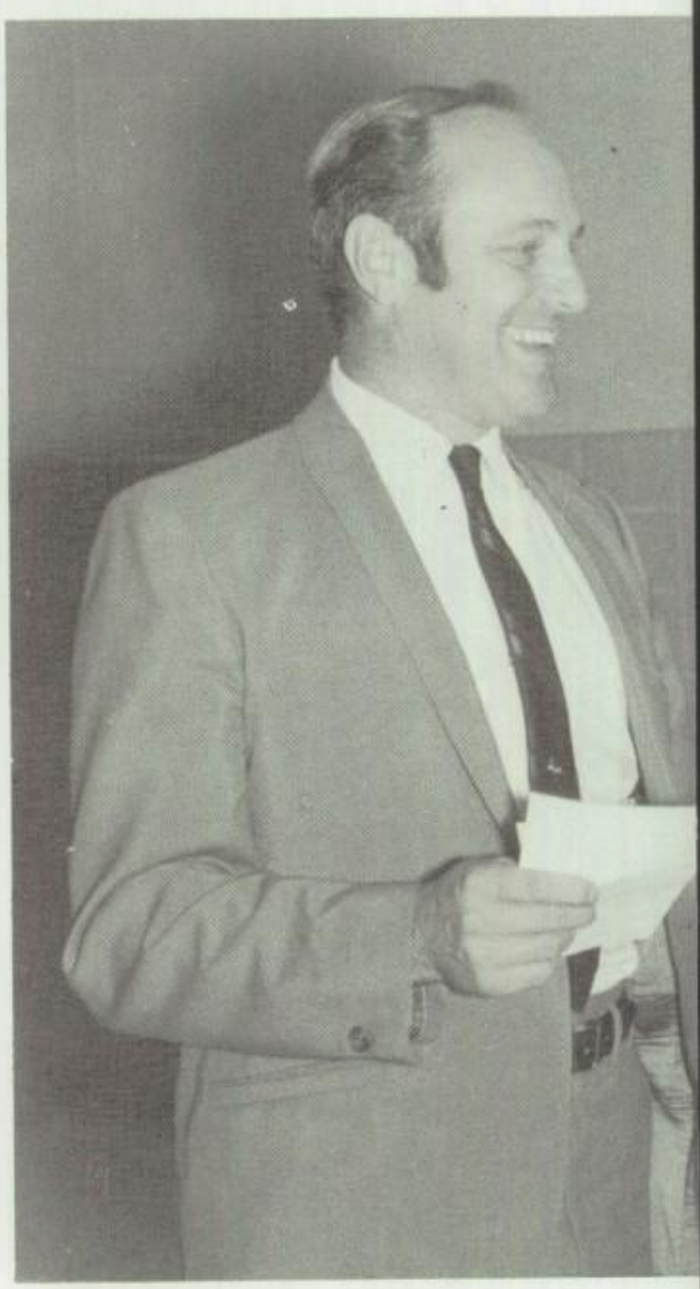
When Louis E. Burnett and Elzie Myers led a small cadre of teachers, administrators, and 1670 students from the Carl Hayden campus to the newly completed Maryvale High School in February of 1963, they had one goal in mind: to provide a quality education for those students who would follow.

Now, ten years later, with both men retiring, it is time to see how well they succeeded.

A well rounded activities program with special interest clubs strengthened the curriculum, the athletic teams with a winning tradition helped build school spirit and pride, but nowhere did the excellence of the school shine brighter than in the field of curriculum.

Although experimentation in team teaching, large group–small group instruction and interdisciplinary cooperation have had a place in the Maryvale scheme of things, the strength of the Burnett-Myers plan has been in the hiring of competent teachers, giving them the supplies and equipment they need and furnishing a space conducive to learning and letting nature take its course.

Burnett's has furnished the leadership in working with new teachers and departments in developing new programs while Myers has been the person responsible for seeing that scheduling kept apace.



Administration assistants work to keep MHS problems few

Administrative assistants always have time for students. Jane Hamlin (above) looks up from her busy desk to greet a student while Bill Stephens (upper center) pauses on campus to speak to one

Through the years the Burnett-Myers team has been helped by a staff of competent assistants: First, Orville Hamm and Flairie DenBoer, then, in 1965, Bernard Magnusson and Jane Hamlin aided in keeping students personal problems from becoming school problems. With the coming of double sessions in 1967, Bill Stephens, who made the move from Carl Hayden as a Home Visitor, became a third member of the team. The fifth administrator, Don Cline, replaced Tom Miller as a co-ordinator of student activities in 1970.

Hamlin through the years has also been sponsor of the Girls League Cabinet. Magnusson, a former All-American football player also functions the athletic director. Stephens, a reserve Army Colonel, handles all matters of school security and supervision.

Cline keeps the school calendar and sponsors student government. He was a social studies teacher at Maryvale for many years.

The Maryvale faculty is a congenial group of veteran teachers and rookies. Of the 180 or so members of the faculty this year, 32 are charter members, having moved from Carl Hayden when this school opened.

The Math Department leads all others in this category. Department Head George Stanley and six other teachers: Merlyn Fredman, Phyllis Hruza, Richard Kemper, Orren Kesler, Warren Kessinger, and Hiram Snodgrass, made the transition a little easier for their students. Through the years they and others who have joined them have increased the math offerings to include computer math, calculus, and, this year, under the tutelage of Charlene Hicks, special programs for the slower mathematics learner.

The Science Department is the second in the hierarchy of seniority with head Leo Koivisto and five teachers; Charles Gilbert, Frank Gelleland, John Strickland, Murray Walker, and Ross Watson.

Watson and Strickland joined with relative newcomers Douglas Tomlinson and Tom Messner this year for a four-man specialized team teaching effort as each man taught nine weeks of the specific field he knows best.

The English Department has undergone drastic revision in its curriculum this year. Such exotic courses as BIBLE as LITERATURE, MASS MEDIA, and SCIENCE FICTION joined the more traditional English courses. It's inimitable leader, George Brown, brought four regular Teachers: Edna Davis, Elenore Moberley, Paul Rea, Theodore Woods and an itenerant tutor who split her time between the English and Foreign Language Department: Dorann Thoreen.

In addition to the regular courses, an expanded reading program was instrumental in bringing Tom Visco, Maureen Clayton, and returnee Bonita Kennedy to Maryvale.

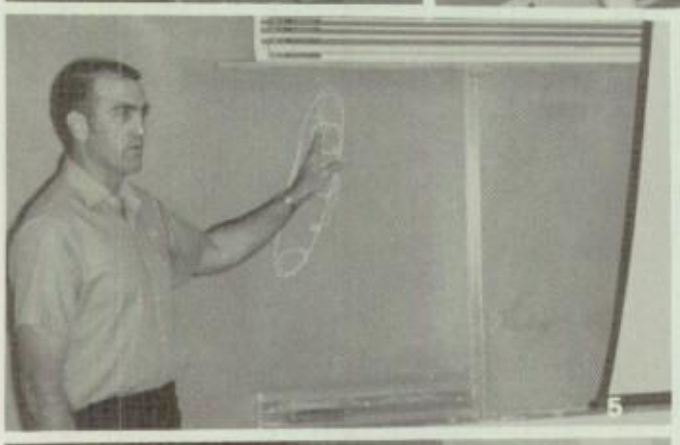
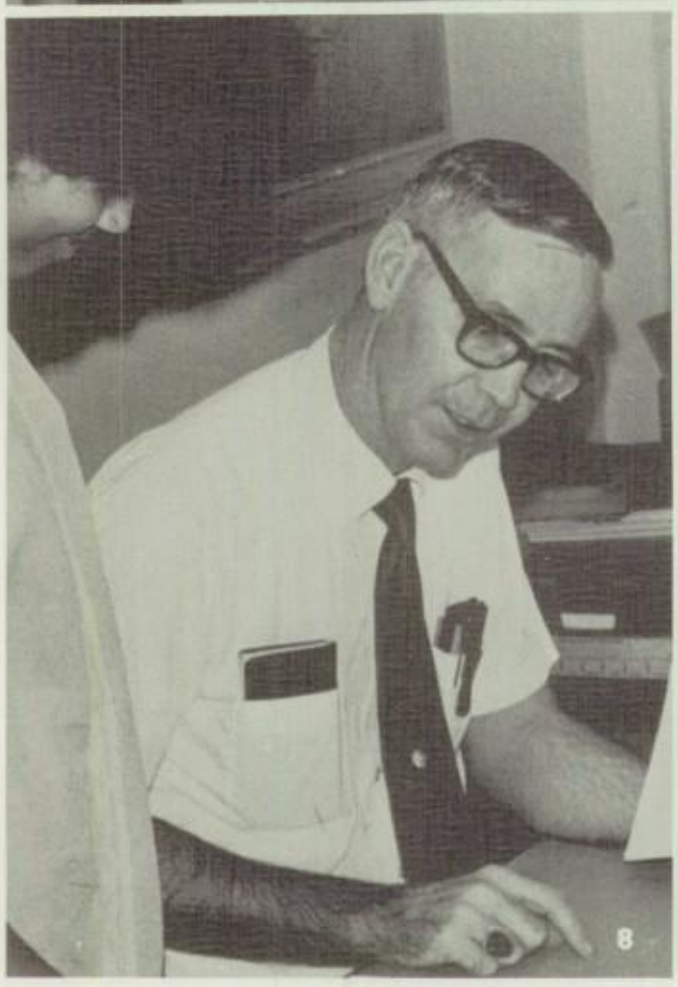
the Business Department. Saban has headed the growth in this area through the traditional typing, shorthand, and bookkeeping to on-the-job training programs such as Cooperative Office Education and Distributive Education. Denison, this year, taught a course in conjunction with the English curriculum called Business





English.

Three teachers now in the Social Studies Department were members of that original faculty, although one, Richard Flanders, came over as band director. He now teaches world geography.

Department Head James Mottershaw and Paul Mungo are the other long-time teachers. Mottershaw joined with Don Goodwin and Jerry Hermanek to teach large groups in the auditorium when the space situation was critical earlier in the year.

prise. Some Saturdays were spent in clean-up, fix-up, and paint-up work around the family's home.

Explaining the situation in Foreign Languages is a difficult task. Along with sometime English teacher Thoreen, Department head Pete Navarette and Ida Sagarino have been at Maryvale since it's inception.

Thoreen is not the only teacher in the department whose schedule has varied. This year, Mary Harthun not only teaches some English Classes but also teaches one class of French at Alhambra. Robert McBroom, also primarily an English teacher, teaches one class of Spanish. George Emmons and Carrie Evans have regular schedules. Both teach Spanish.

Only two counselors ever saw the inside of Carl Hayden as a part of the faculty. They are Cliff Currier and Beatrice Bryon. Currier is the department head and best golfer of the group.

Two boys' physical education instructors were in that first group. Harold Powers, who was to become department head, and Gilbert Trejo, the Panther baseball coach, are the oldest in point of service.

The two newcomers to the department are Johnny Nunez and Ralph Neighbors.

The remaining faculty member who was a member of the original cast is Ira Conner who manages Maryvale's considerable audio-visual aids department. Responsible for scheduling films, filmstrips, and other A-V materials, Conner also produces material and trains students assistants to operate the various projectors.

Although none of the other departments have an original left they have through the years given their students the special attention needed for educational growth.

students. The Band, under the direction of Robert Connolly, won an A rating at the ASU Band Day. The Industrial Arts Department has met the needs of those Maryvale students who are more vocationally minded. Under the direction of Tom Johnson, the department offers students several trades classes or they may go to work part-time in the Industrial Cooperative training program.

A directive from the State Superintendent of Public Instruction brought the health department into being. As usual Maryvale responded by offering a good program in a short time.

Now, with many of its teachers, old and new, leaving to form the nucleus of the Trevor G. Browne faculty and its top administrators retiring, Maryvale faces a new era. But to those who were a part of the first ten years, Maryvale High was a school. "Well done, Louis Burnett." "Well done Elzie Myers."

Opening schools is particularly hard on the secretarial staff according to Shirley Feuersanger who along with Elda Meadows is qualified to talk on the subject based on the move to Maryvale. The ladies of the Secretarial staff perform a multitude of services without which, school would come to a grinding halt.

From the attendance office where records of excused as well as unexcused absences are kept to the library where clerks aid the regular librarians keep up with books and bodies, the people involved do their jobs quickly, quietly and quiescently.

Five serve as secretaries for administrators, keeping appointments straight (especially important in the activities office) and their bosses in the right place at the right time. Two are responsible for the counseling office and its contacts with students each day. The audio-visual program would run out of popcorn as would the whole school without its girl Fridays.

The day crew keeps the grounds clean and the grass and flowers growing as well as cleaning up the cafeteria after lunch. The night crew, who come to work at 5 pm to clean the classrooms and halls while the students sleep and think nothing of coming to a clean school every morning. They are under the supervision of leadman Ralph "Whitey" White.

Ten cafeteria personnel prepare, serve and clean up after 900 meals daily. They operate a snack bar for those students who do not require a full meal.

These ladies, under the direction of cafeteria supervisor Mildred Kuehn, work to keep food at Maryvale at top quality at a price all students can afford.

Wilson's Music Man delights audiences

Meridith Wilson's musical extravaganza, "The Music Man" was the MHS Drama Department's first production of this year.

The play, directed by Miss Connie Orr, required an extra amount of preparation in coordinating efforts between the actors and the orchestra.

The story centered around a fast talking con-artist, Harold (with a capital "H") Hill, played by John Opilowsky.

Hill visits the small Iowa town of River City where he plans to swindle the River Citizens into purchasing band uniforms for a children's band which he intends to teach by his "think method".

However, his bad intentions are altered when he falls in love with Marion the librarian, portrayed by Mary Avilla.

Chuck Keever was con-man Hill's faithful cohort in trickery, Marcellus.

The only true skeptic to the music man's intentions was in River City's Mayor played by Marc Denson.

Skip Chasey was Marion's tongue-tied brother Winthrop and Linda Smith played Mrs. Paroo, Marion's mother.

Stacy "pick-a-little, talk-a-little" Gaffin led the town's gossips as the Mayor's wife.

Professor Hill demonstrates to Marion where the music comes out after it "goes round and round".

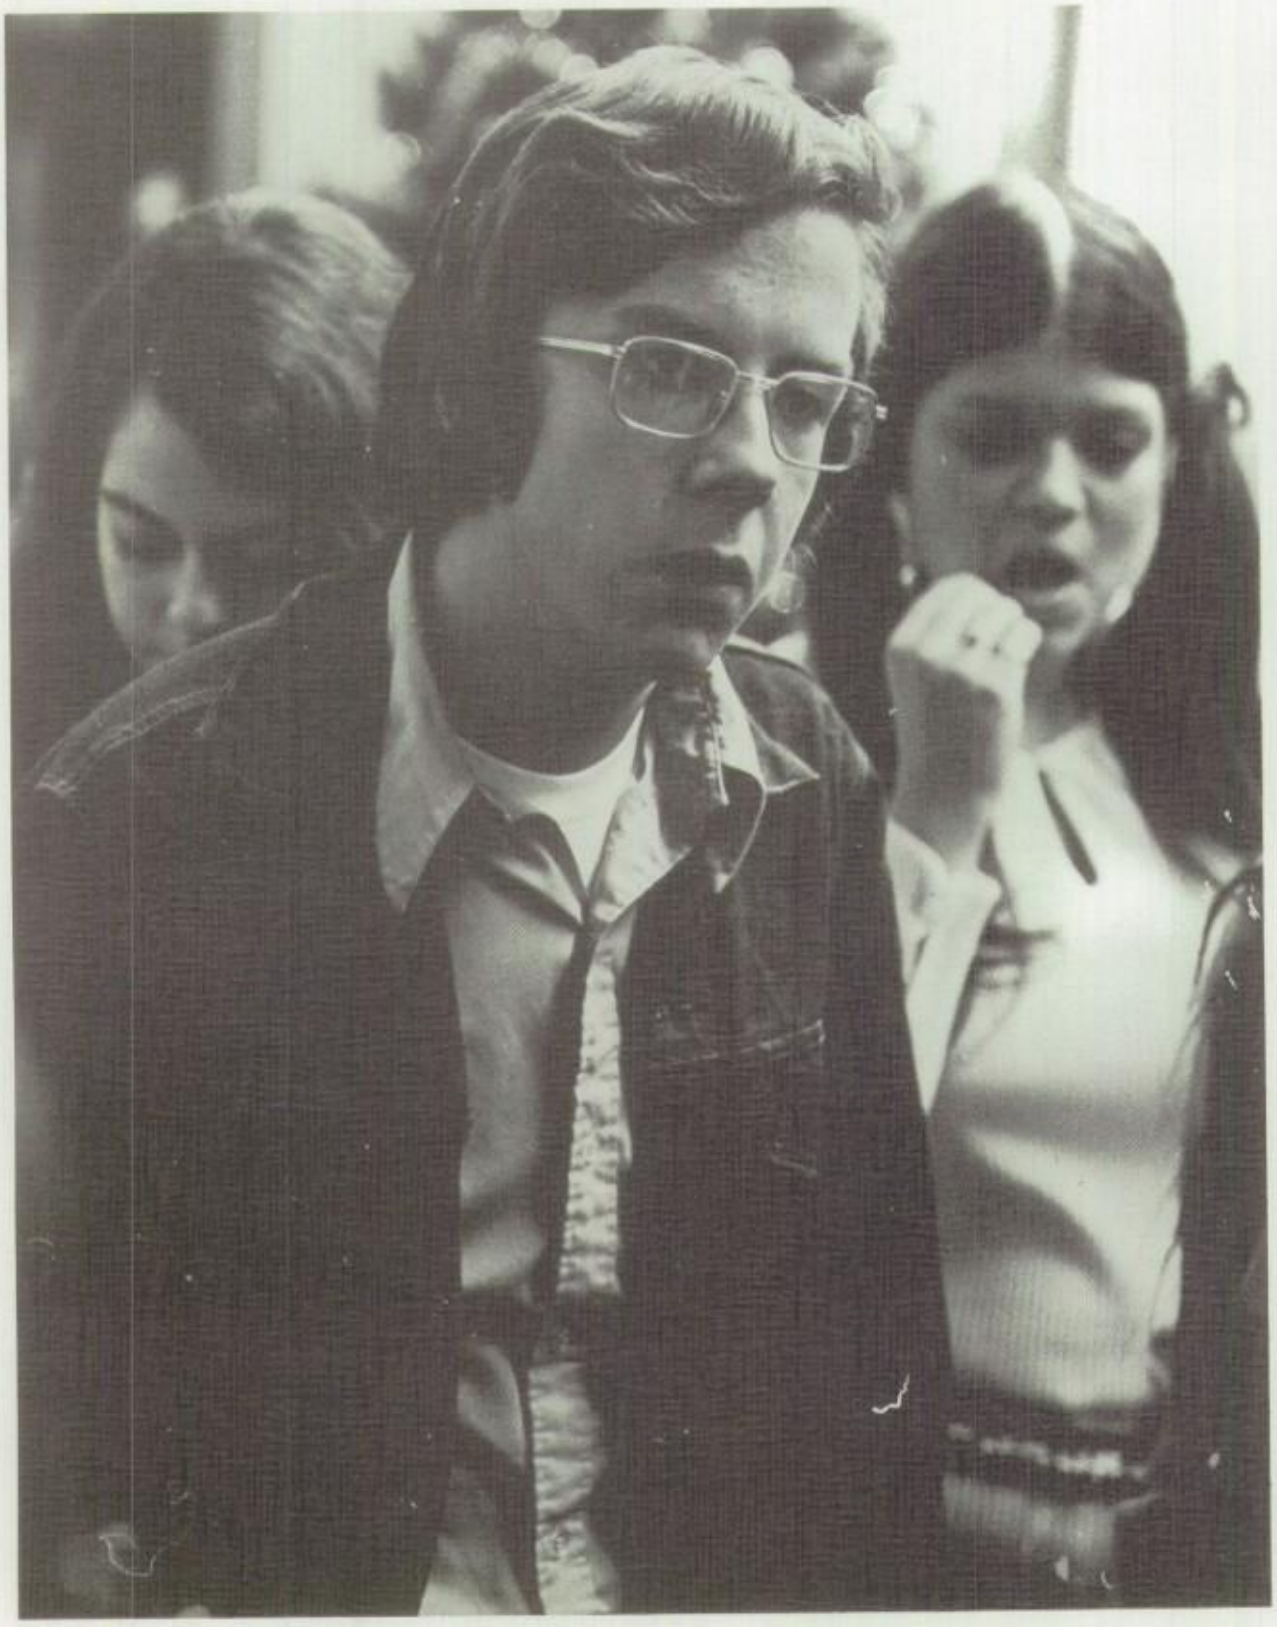
Easter Bunny won first prize. Second went to the Pep Club's Thanksgiving turkey while third place was captured by the Publications' staffs' entry, Bucky the groundhog, Judging was done by members of the faculty.



Disappointment of the Maryvale Juniors is mirrored in Glen Blankenships' face (top left) as the decision of the Board requires the Juniors to attend Brown next year, while a concerned parent (middle) discusses the decision over with Mr. Black, new principal of Brown. It would have taken more than the suasive words of Mr. Burnett to convince Chuck Keever (right) that the board made the right decision, but the Board, represented by Don Jackson (top right) had to come to a decision.

Juniors disappointed at 'no choice' decision

Many Maryvale students, mostly juniors, were disappointed but the Phoenix Union High School Board voted to close Maryvale in order to as nearly as possible fill Trevor G. Browne High School when it opens in the fall of 1972.

Previous to the decision were weeks of arguments and discussion.

The students had hoped that Maryvale would be left open to seniors, as has always been the case when a new school has opened. However this time the board broke tradition and closed Maryvale to all students living outside of the Maryvale boundaries, including seniors.

The decision was accompanied by objections and tears from the juniors who hoped to finish at Maryvale.

Dope smugglers must 'Wait Until Dark'

Play production at Maryvale went from musical-comedy to suspenseful drama as "Wait Until Dark" was performed as the Thespian's second presentation of the year.

Stacy Gaffin starred as Susy Hendrix, a blind woman trying to outsmart Brad Leker, the evil Harry Roat Junior (and Senior).

Steve Suskin played Mike Talmon, originally one of Roat's henchmen looking for illegal narcotics hidden inside a doll. Mike later befriends Susy which notably shortens his life span.

Jim Huffman portrayed Carlino, Mike's partner in crime.

Aiding Susy in concealing the drug-bearing doll was Debbie Smith as Gloria, a young neighbor girl.

Susy's beloved husband who tries to make her "the world's champion blind lady" was played by David Kelly.

After a suspenseful scene in which Roat attempts to murder Susy, policemen Marc Denson and Jim Welch arrive to save her.

'Kingsmen' bring 'new army' look to MHS campus for inspection

Appealing to the young men of today was the objective of representatives of the Army when they visited Maryvale. Students were seen climbing in and out of the tanks on display and seemed interested in the arsenal the Kingsmen brought. Stationed in Ft. Carson, Colorado, one of the first bases to change to the new army, the Kingsmen were very enthusiastic about the relaxed regulations and increased privileges the "New Army" has brought.

Classes get practical work helping minorities

The minority peoples elective in history is in reality more than just another class, it is an experience.

For those who enroll as the second semester to American Government, there is a chance to better understand the problems of the minorities, and even more important is the chance to help solve those problems.

This year, the class aided the Key Club in its adoption of two families in Surprise.

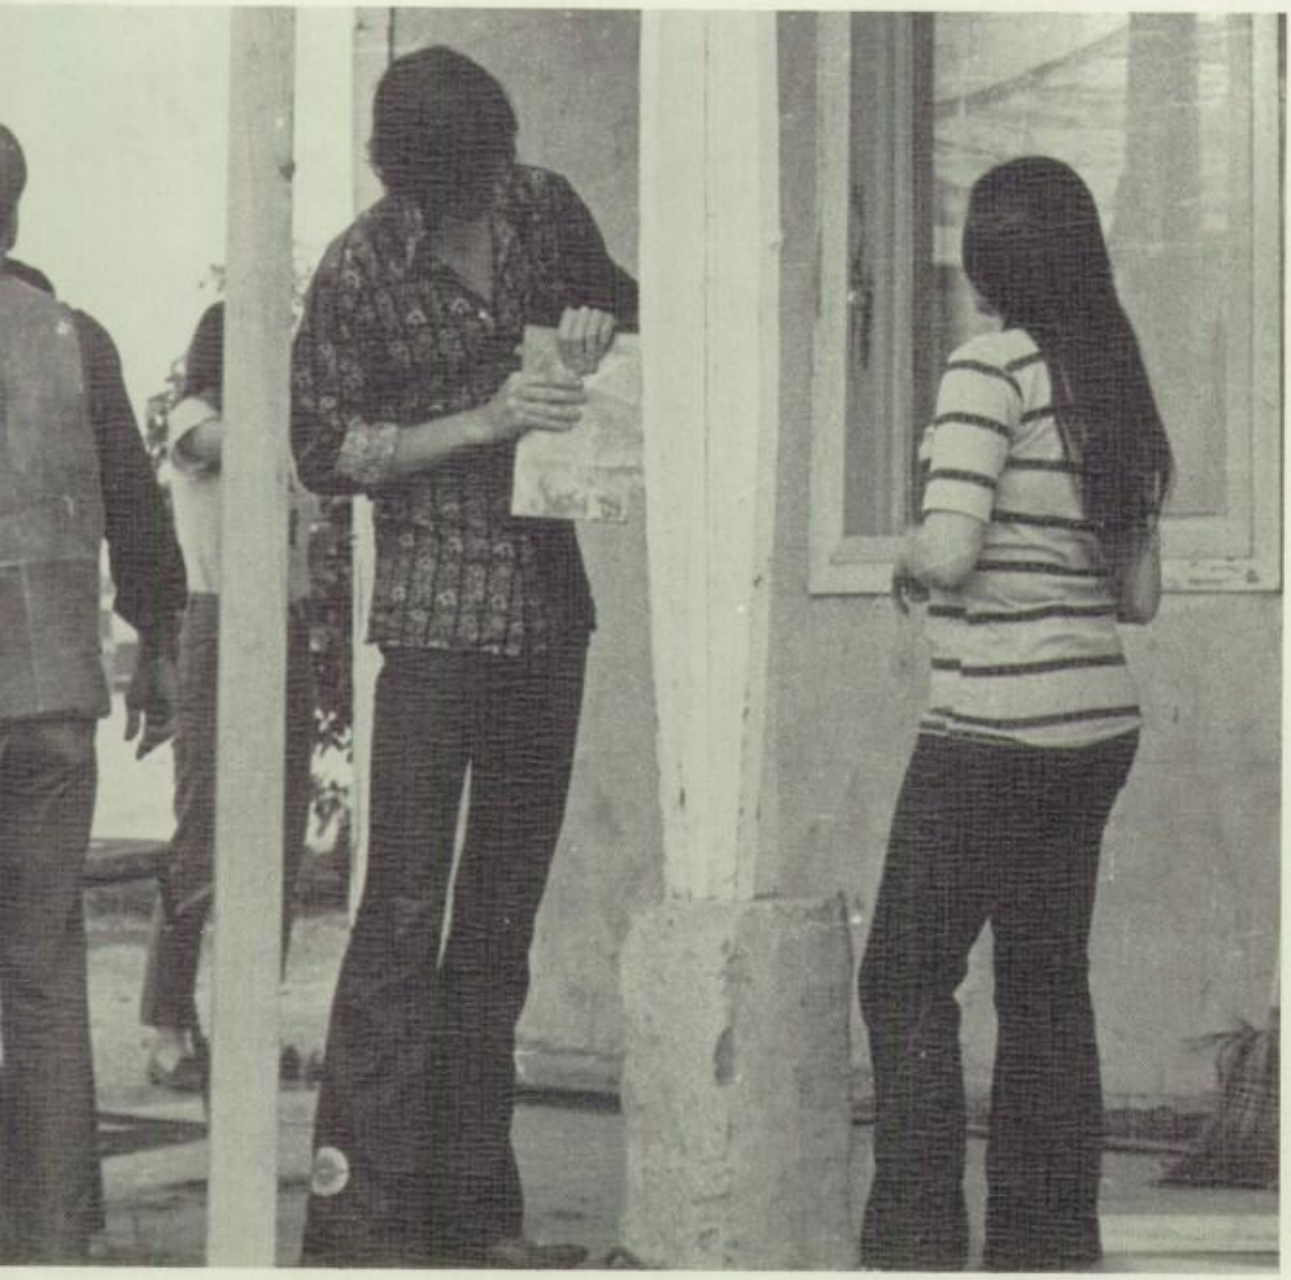
Through the work projects with the two families, the classes did more than just talk about the problems of the Afro and Mexican Americans.

By visiting areas in which the minorities live, the classes get a chance to see the situation through their own eyes, and can discuss the problems and wants of people who have known nothing but discrimination and poverty all their lives.

By presenting both sides of the situation, and then allowing free discussion, the class gives each person a chance to make up his or her own mind.

The class not only presents a problem that is relevant to our society, but it also becomes a small part of the cure.

Mr. Russell seems to be unsure of how to tackle the job of painting a Surprise house (top) but the minority peoples students find a way (middle) and even the upper trimming is no problem as shown by Pauline Dyerberg and David Ray (right).



Sometimes the methods used by the classes were a bit crude and here Mike Duncan demonstrates the proper use of a paint roller to some eager helpers (top) while at left, more paint seems to be going on the students than on the wall.

Seniors get 'childish' during playschool time

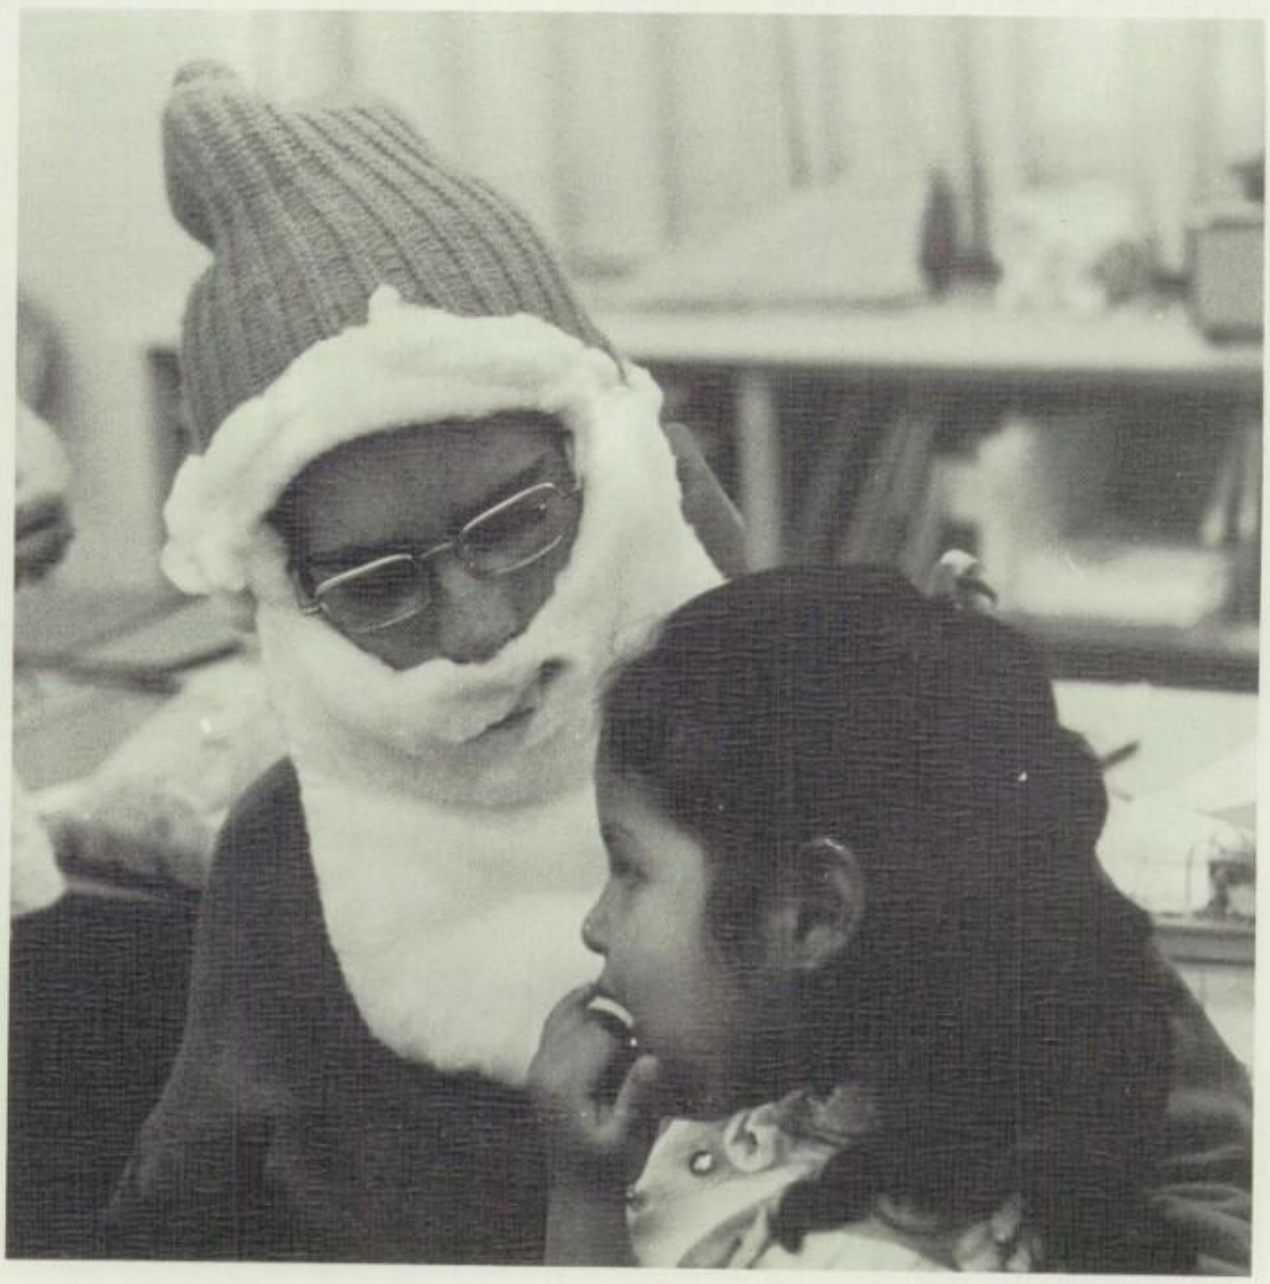
Each year Maryvale seniors revert to childhood and can be seen sliding down the slide, climbing the monkey bars, and building castles in the sandbox.

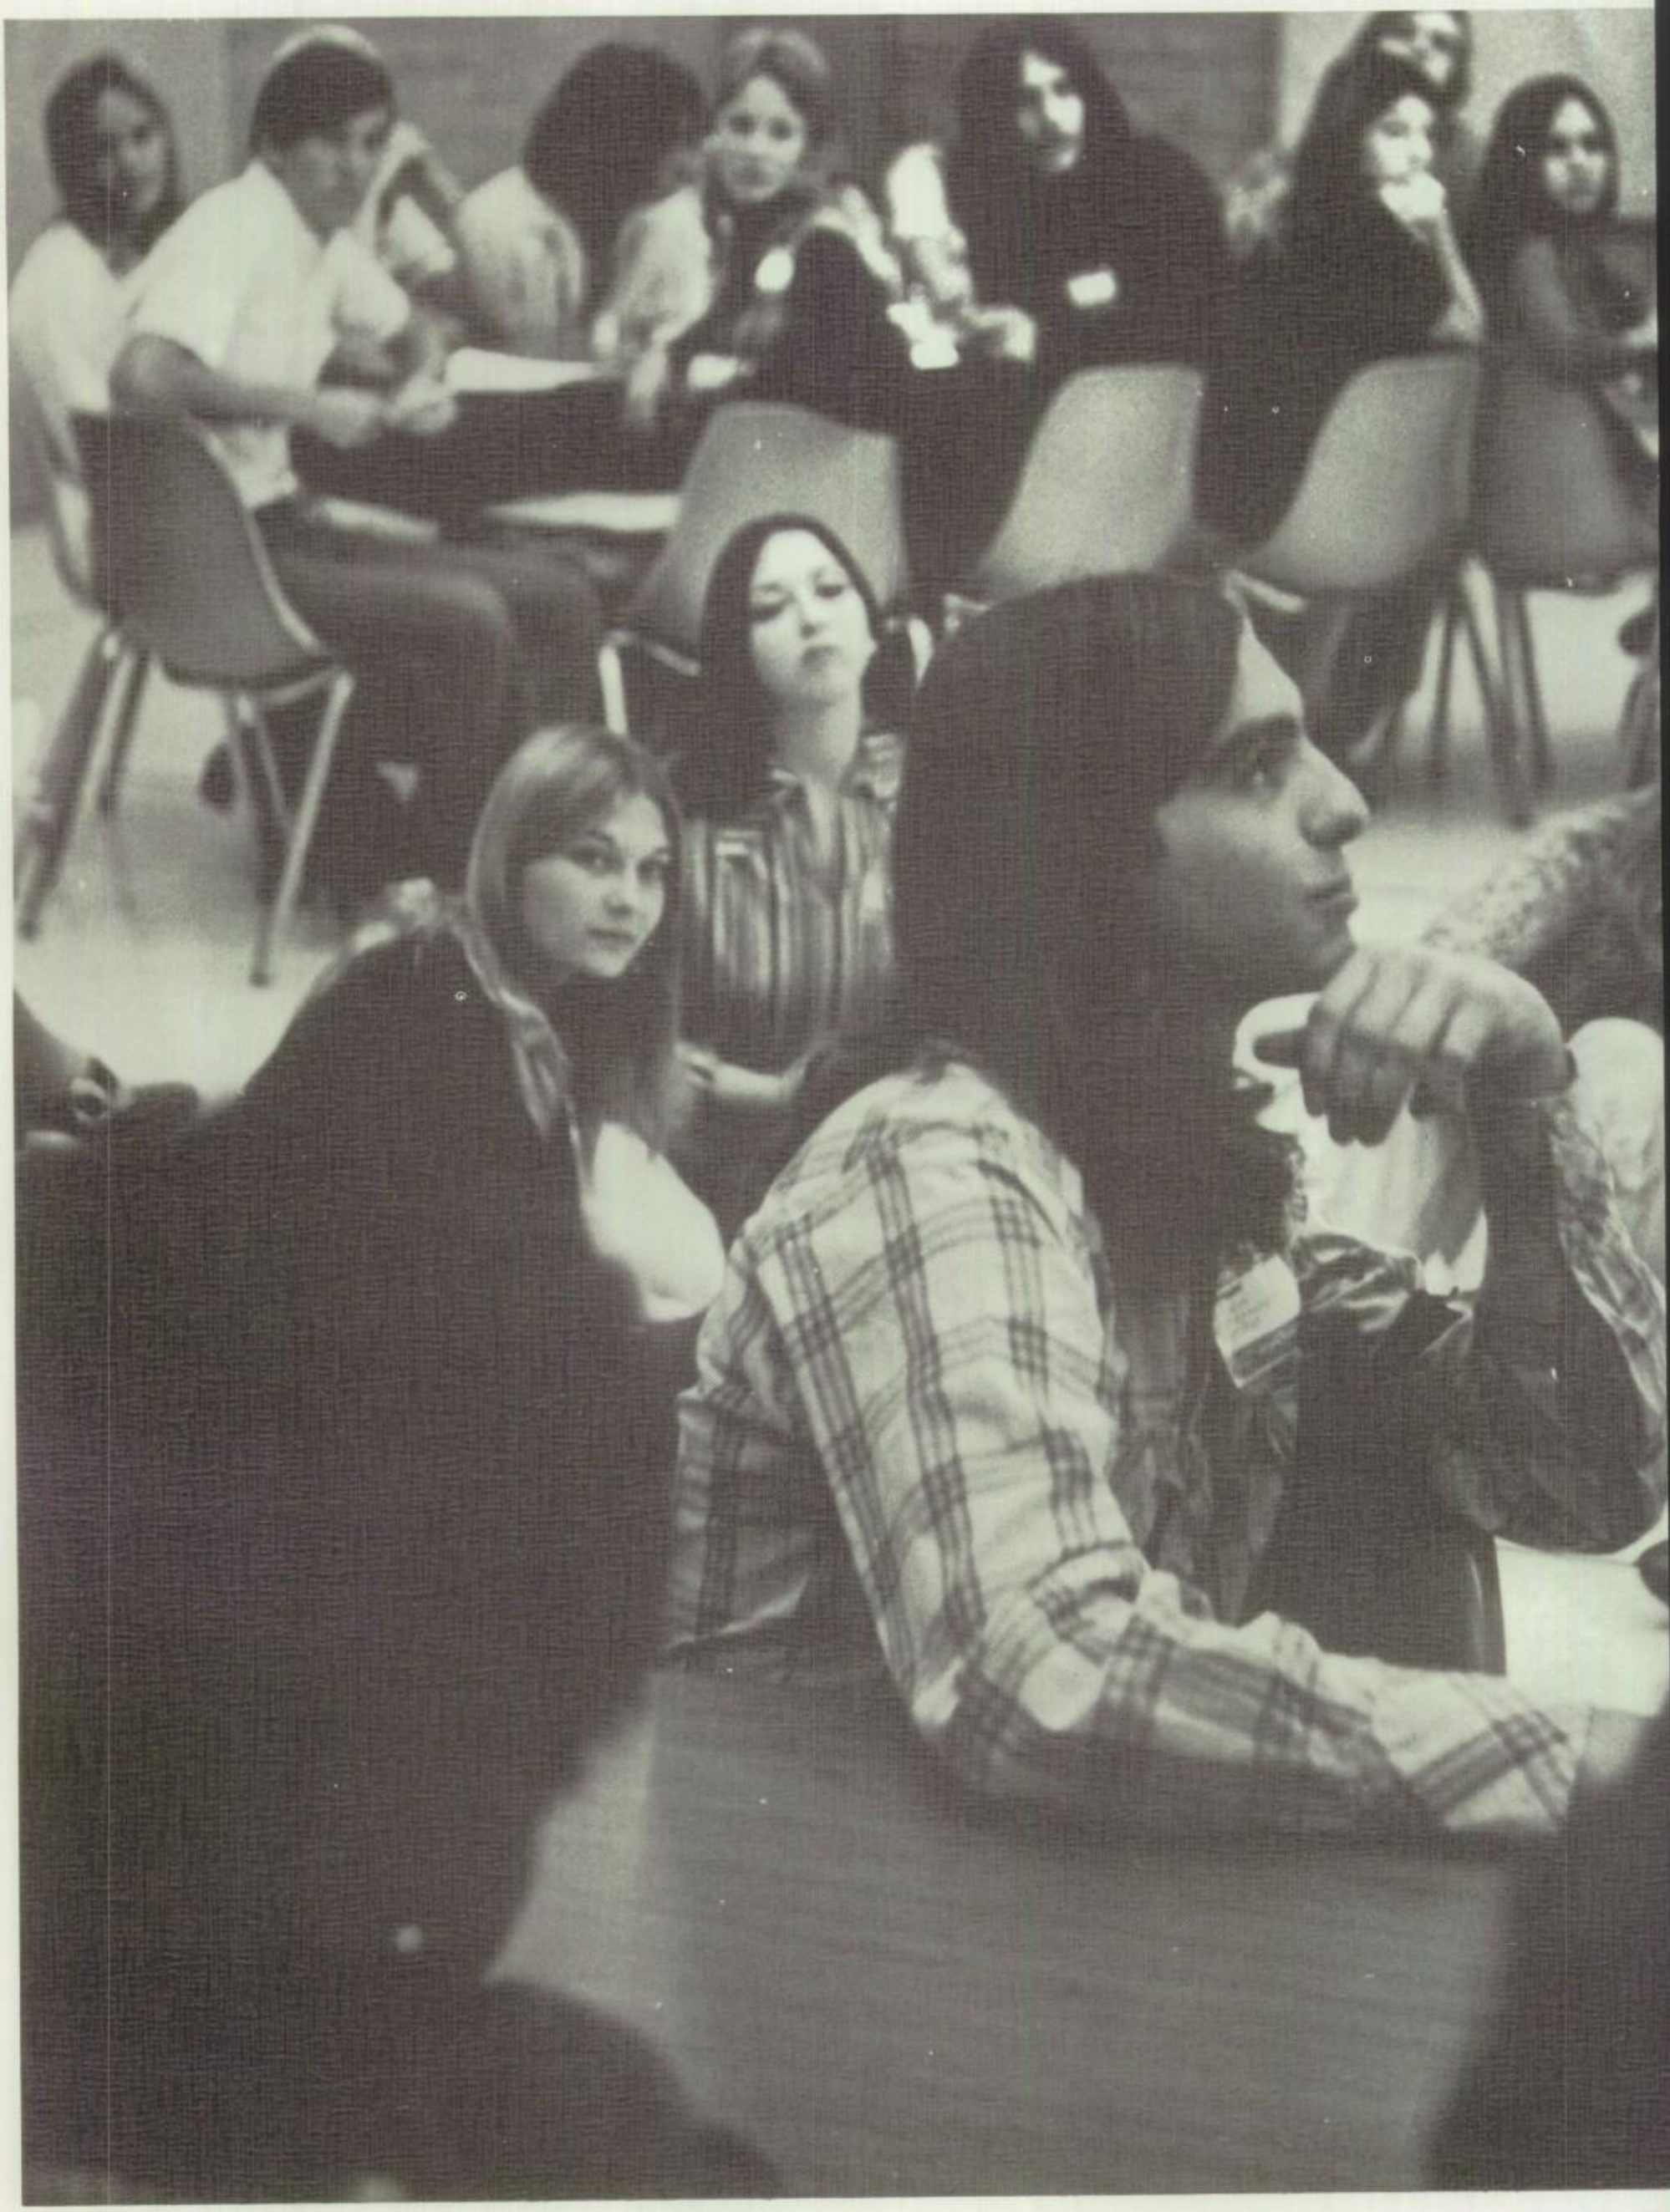
Child Development and Human Relations have as their goal acheiving an understanding of people, and since a great number of people are children, students must learn to understand them.

Parents bring their children and place them in the hands of enthusiastic future parents, who play with them, observe them and hopefully keep them from destroying the school.

The arrangement has benefits for both parents and students. Parents get a period away from their children, students get credit for playing in the sand.

It may not be fast (top left) but it sure saves on gas. The appropriately named monkey bars (top right) provide entertainment for the children, while (right) ring-around-the-rosie seems to be the easiest way to keep the children together. It seems to be love at first sight (far right) for these two little girls as they meet Santa for the first time.





School leaders attend human relations meet

Approximately 30 MHS students, including the Executive Committee and other "campus leaders" attended a student human relations workshop at the West Valley Y.M.C.A. last fall in an effort to form the beginnings of a new Student Human Relations program being considered for PUHS schools.

The Maryvale students combined with their Alhambra High counterparts engaged in sensitivity sessions designed to show new communications methods.

The concert directed by Mrs. Rayma Beal, portrayed fluid motion and true feeling, through a series of rhythmic movements.

The Advanced modern dance class displayed their special talent in the last dance of the night, "Evolution of Becoming".

Another number, "Words" had not any music but instead just strictly words and actions.

Panthers open with win over Westwood Warriors

Both ectasy and heartbreak filled Maryvale's football season in 1971-72 and after climbing to the number one rating in the State, the Panthers fell in the first game of the playoff.

Taking over the reigns for the first time, coach Bob Young guided the varsity team to 10 consecutive wins.

Going into the playoffs, Maryvale was named as the number one team in the State by both the Gazette and Republic polls, but then Phoenix Union put an end to all hopes of a State title, beating Maryvale 42-20.

The varsity led off the season with a 28-20 victory over crosstown rival Westwood.

The win marked only the first time that Maryvale had beaten the Warriors on their field and only the second time ever.

Jerry Davis led the Panther ground game, rushing for 124 yards and two touchdowns. Quarterback Joe Winsor threw two TD passes in that clash.

The win was to make Maryvale a respected power in the ratings, as Westwood was at the time the number one rated team.

The following week Maryvale came up against a tough physical Camelback team, and after a disappointing first half, Davis caught a 70 yard pass from Joe Winsor with only a few seconds left on the clock to win it, 14-7.

Panthers hand Buffs their only loss, 14-7

Jim Di Santi and Courtney Bossert were the defensive standouts for MHS in that game.

Carl Hayden, never known as a real powerhouse against Maryvale fell into a 21-0 deficit but roared back to give a slight scare to Maryvale fans but the defense held them off to win the third game, 21-14.

Tempe, which later finished second in the State playoffs came to meet Maryvale in the "Battle".

Maryvale went on to win the game 14-7 as Ray Jackson scored his first touchdown of the game and Davis caught a 32 yard aeriel from Winsor for his seventh score.

Going into the West High game, some people were beginning to think that Maryvale could win by seven points, since the first four games were settled by one touchdown.

Against the Thunderbirds, MHS

North High provides Panthers 'easy prey'

MHS ripped off 42 points and was paced by the strong running of Gary Hurst. Hurst scored his first two scores of the year, and Earl Olmstead and Rocky Riggs each picked up their first TD of the year in relief.

Maryvale's sixth game was at East High, and dispite the 35-20 win, an attack on an official by running back Jerry Davis clouded the rest of the year as a result of the assult, but the rest of the team was allowed to finish out the year. Maryvale picked up its second league win of the year the next week when they traveled to South Mountain. There, after leading 26-7 after three quarters, the Panthers gave up 18 points to the Rebels and had to rely on a missed two point conversion by South to hold onto the 26-25 win.

North High was the easiest victim for the varsity squad as they ripped the Mustang defense for 42 points and stopped the North defense without giving up a point.

Winsor completed only two passes in that contest, but he only threw two, and both of them went for touchdowns to George Greathouse and Jerry Kilgore. The Phoenix Division League title was to be decided when Maryvale met Central at the home of the Bobcats.

Hurst and Jackson led the ground game for Maryvale, but it was a 54 yard pass from Winsor to Greathouse that gave the Panthers a 20-14 win,

On the (far left) Ray Jackson fighting his way for a touchdown but is being held by a Camelback defender. In the Bottom Center Joe Winsor plows his way to the extra yardage and a touchdown against South. Roger Childs (top center) slams his way in for the first down, but is overpowered by two of the South Mountain Rebels.

Coyotes rip Panthers for the title, 42-20

14 win, and the championship of League B.

The Panthers played traditional rival Alhambra in the last regular season game, and Maryvale used the game as a warmup for the State final.

The Lions dominated play for almost the entire game, but trailing 6-0 at the end of the first half, MHS came back to rip apart the Lion defensive line for 18 points in the first seven minutes of the second half to win it, 18-6. Phoenix Union edged Camelback in a strong physical battle that same week to gain the League A crown, setting up the showdown for the championship of the Phoenix Division.

Going into the game, Maryvale was picked as the number one team in the State due to losses by Tucson and Salpointe. That made the varsity the only team to go undefeated throughout the regular season. Maryvale jumped out to an early advantage in the Union game, but the strong running of Manny Jones was too much for the squad to handle.

Jones and Co. beat Maryvale, 42-20, and the loss stopped all hopes of of the State title. Despite the loss in the playoffs, the year was the most successful grid year in the history of Maryvale, and was the first time a Maryvale varsity squad had ever gone undefeated for the regular season. Needless to say, the year was a vast improvement over last years 5-5 record. Jerry Davis, although he only saw action in six games still led all of the Panther rushers with well over 1,000 yards.

Coach Young, in his first year as head coach was named the Coach of the Year for the Phoenix Division for his efforts.

Ray Jackson, barely missing the first team of All-Staters, received the Thom McAn award for the athlete who distinguished himself most in the areas of grades, activities, and athletic ability. With the opening of Browne High set for next year, it is quite rewarding to have had a successful year before the split in the student body.

JV, Frosh teams gain experience

Maryvale's junior varsity team mimiced the varsity in compiling an undefeated 8-2-0 record. The frosh A team was the only team to suffer a losing season, going 4-5 while the frosh B stacked up 6 victories to 2 ties and 1 loss.

The JV team was led by captain Ralph Baca at quarterback and defensive co-captains Mike Dubois and Pete Christofolo.

The experience gained on the JV team will come in handy next year when members of the squad will be making up not only Maryvale's varsity, but also that of Browne.

The frosh B team won its first six games under the direction of Roark Shirley at quarterback. Despite two losses and a tie at the end of the year the team finished with a fine 6-2-1.

The frosh A squad had several prospects for future Panther and Bruin teams despite its record.

All three teams helped the varsity in making this one of the best years in Maryvale's history for football.

Cross Country finds foes mighty quick

Maryvale's young cross country team finished the year with a 6-4 tally, but the experience gained by the varsity team may aid in bringing a state championship to Maryvale next year.

The varsity finished the season with a fifth place in the division against some of the best competition the state has seen in a few years.

Ronnie Brown led the Panther harriers and established several school records over the cross country course.

The junior varsity also ended the year in fifth place, boasting a 8-1 slate. The frosh slipped to sixth in the division while winning 6 meets and losing 2.

Even though the Panther runners didn't fare too well in the state meet, it was a good first year for new head coach Gene Shipley.

Matmen finish ninth in state tournament

The 1971-72 school year could only be described as a rebuilding season for the Maryvale wrestling team.

After last year's tie for the state championship, the Panthers were hurt by graduation, and it looked as though the team would have a hard time capturing the division title.

Coach Charles Clubine, head coach until his death early this year, was replaced by Vae Geiler, and the team not only had to train several new wrestlers, but also had to break in a new coach.

But when the season began, MHS put together a nine and one record in dual meets, and won a four way tournament in addition to capturing Washington High invitational Christmas tournament.

The grapplers began the season with a 52-6 thrashing of the East High Longhorns.

In that win, Maryvale won all but one weight class, and displayed it's team strength.

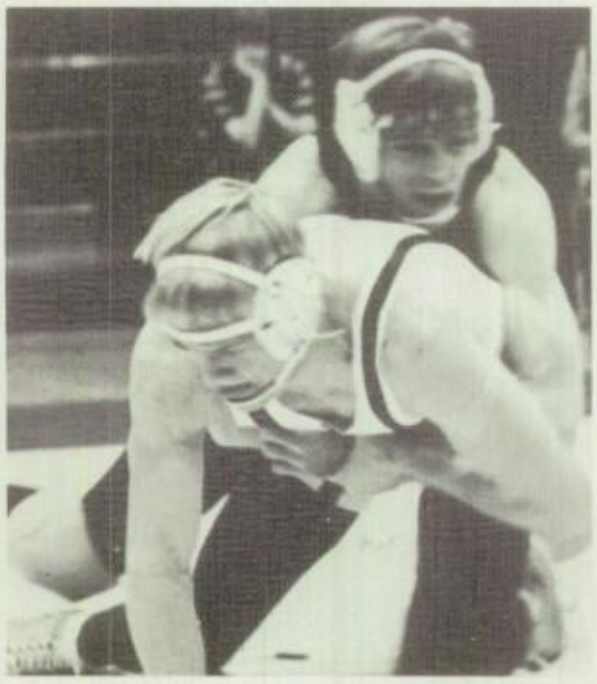
The varsity next defeated Central, Camleback, and West in the division's four way meet.

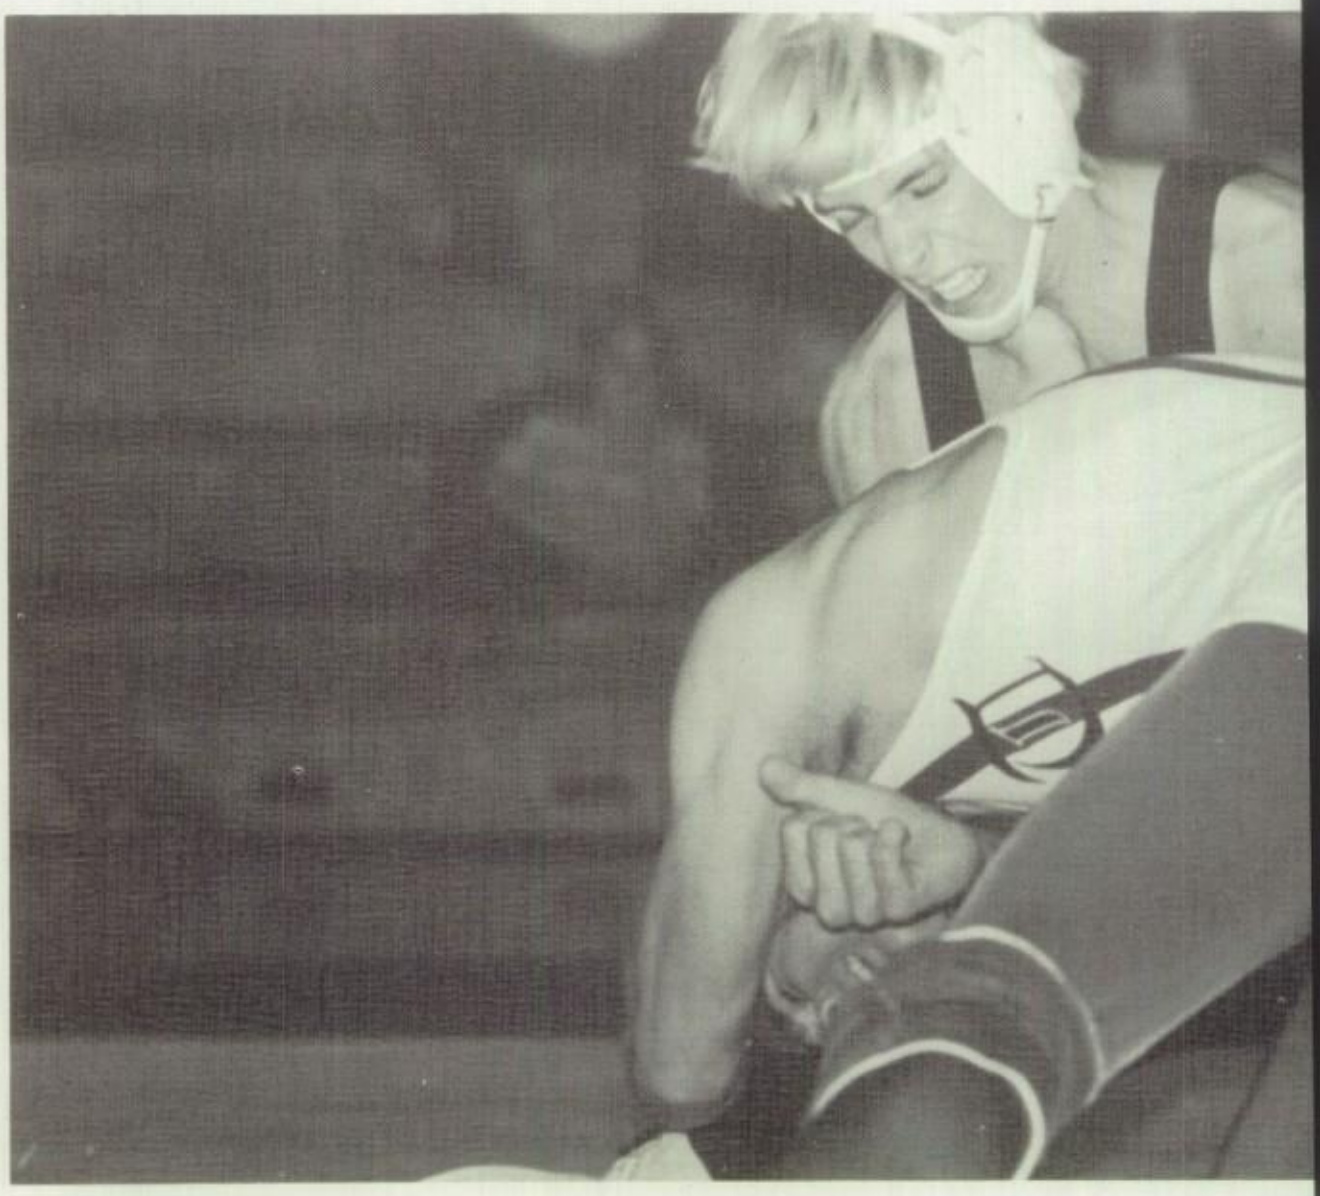
In four way meets, individuals accomplishment is stressed and overall team strength is less important than in a dual meet.

This win proved Maryvale could have a shot at the division title, as well as the state crown which are based solely on the efforts on individual wrestlers.

The varsity squad closed out the pre-holiday play with a win over Phoenix Union.

This set the stage for the holiday tournament at Washington in which Maryvale was listed as co-favorite with Carl Hayden.





Brian Wood (top) awaits whistle to begin second round of his match while Earl Olmstead struggles (above) to bring down his opponent. Chuck Gibbs (right) demonstrates form which netted him a birth in the State Tournament, and Jim Weed flips his combatant at the state meet.

In the holiday tournament, the Falcons won several individual championships, and as expected were right on top of the fight for the title.

But the Panthers were able to wrestle through the ranks, and managed to defeat the Falcons by a slim half point.

Camelback was Maryvale's next foe, and again the Panthers came out on top. Then following a close victory over a strong Alhambra team, Maryvale went against the perennially tough Central division power, Tempe.

The Buffs were listed as one of the teams which could upset the Panthers in a dual meet.

Jim Weed (below) won the 126 pound weight class competition for Maryvale this year in the state wrestling tournament.

Wrestlers grab title in divisional tourney

At the time the two teams met, Maryvale had won 37 dual meets in a row, and was looking like the state championship team of last year.

But the Buffalos were strong in the upper weight classes, and snapped Maryvale's win streak by defeating the Panthers.

The rest of the year was an anticlimax to the Tempe match, but the Panthers continally improved their talents in preparation for the divisional.

South, West, North and Central all fell before the strong Panther attack.

In each meet, Maryvale's domination of the division became more obvious, but it was the final meet which proved the team was the best in the division.

In that last dual meet the season, Maryvale defeated Carl Hayden, and by defeating the co-state champs, was picked as the favorite when the divisional tourney got under way.

David Kyllo, Greg Johnson, and Jim Weed all claimed top honors in their respective weight class for Maryvale as MHS scored a come-from behind win to claim the divisional trophy.

In addition to winning division, the squad placed seven men into the state tournament.

Geiler, Echols enjoy successful season

In the State tournament, MHS finished ninth of the 31 teams entered.

Jim Weed was the only state champion, as he took top honors in the 126 pound weight class.

Tom Schmidt fought his way back through the losers bracket to finish in third place in the 185 pound weight class.

One of the reasons for the Panthers' finish was the surprise defeat of sophomore Greg Johnson in his first round of the state tourney.

Johnson had won the title on three pins in four matches, and was favored to win state as the top seed from the Phoenix Division.

Weed, who had won state last year for Maryvale in 119 pound class, and the excess weight did not seem to hamper him as he picked up another state champion medal.

Schmidt won his first match, and looked as though he could have given the Panthers their second champion, but he lost in the second round, and had to come back in the wrestle back to finish third.

In the heavyweight class, Dave Kyllo took fourth place honors for MHS by winning his first two matches and then suffering two defeats in the consolation final.

Even though the Panthers didn't win state, there was a lot of promise shown for future teams.

South Mountain High was one of the schools that gave Maryvale a battle for the Phoenix division title. But here Jim Weed (above) and Dave Kyllo (left) slow the Rebels by getting an advantage over their respective opponents.

Basketballers waltz through state finals

After stringing eight wins in a row, losing three games and finishing with a 12 game win streak, the Panther varsity basketball team swept through the divisional and state tournaments to grab Maryvale its first state hoop title ever.

After finishing the regular season with a 20-3 slate, MHS easily won the Phoenix Division title, then scored victories over Palo Verde, Tempe, Coronado and Westwood to claim the state trophy.

Maryvale used a final period rally to thrash the Palo Verde Titans in the first state game.

PV led Maryvale, 24-23 at the half, and Maryvale only held a slim four point lead going into the final quarter but in that last period, Maryvale exploded for 23 points while the dazzling defense held the foes to only 9.

Tempe gave Maryvale its toughest contest of the tournament, but once again it was the Panthers who prevailed. The buffs came back from an 18-8 deficit early in the first half, and were down by only four going into the last quarter. But MHS showed supreme work on the offensive boards and ripped the Buffaloes, 65-56.

It was a highly outmatched Coronado team which next confronted the Panthers.

Coronado had a fine rebounding team, but the Dons were outplayed at their own game and Maryvale ripped off a 71-51 win.

The game with Westwood was an anticlimax as the Warriors never made a game of the contest after the first quarter. Maryvale emerged with a 56-46 win, the state trophy, and several individual honors.

Defense holds key for Panther netters

During the regular season, the varsity Panther hoopsters rolled up a 20-3 record, claimed a second place finish in the holiday tournament, and won the Phoenix division league B crown.

This was accomplished through eight straight victories, before the final game of the holiday tournament, and a string of 12 wins after Maryvale's regular season loss to Rincon.

The Panthers were rated highly in the pre-season polls, due to the return of four starters from last years team.

Steve Burke, Bob Stout, Kurt Freitag and Ronnie Davis game Maryvale a tall team which was expected to dominate the rebound game all year.

The team began the year with a 60-47 thrashing of the Arcadia Titans.

Arcadia was the number one rated team in the state at the time, and had already played a game.

But Maryvale won on the fine offensive playmaking of Kurt Freitag and center Bob Stout, Freitag netting 16 points and Stout leading all scorers with 18.

Phoenix Union and West High were the next opponents of the varsity.

By beating them by scores of 53-35 and 74-51 Maryvale vaulted into the number one slot.

Coach Kindall's crew continued it's winning ways with victories over over Camelback (64-49) and Carl Hayden (62-52) and it became clear that the Panthers had one of the best defensive teams in the state. With these two wins, Maryvale upped it's record to 5-0 and set up play in the holiday meet.

Jerry Porter (far left) played well when thrust into the role of play-maker in mid-season, and Ronnie Davis shows at left why he was among the state's top ten scorers.

regular season action. Maryvale followed the losses by winning their last 12 games. Camelback provided the first victim and Steve Burke led the varsity to a resounding 66-33 victory with his 19 points.

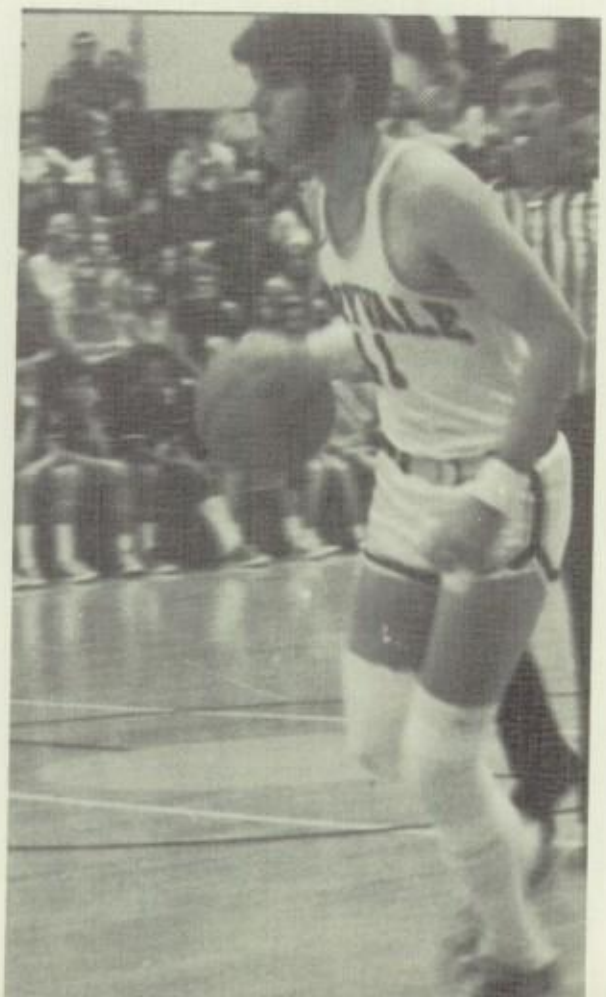
Then Maryvale exemplified it's balanced scoring attack in a 74-69 win over West.

In that game Burke scored 18. Stout chipped in 17. Davis made 16 and junior Randy Anglin added 15 points.

Maryvale began league B action at home against the South Rebels, and as expected had little trouble with the inter-league foe.

Maryvale defeated South, 56-38 and it was the fine zone defense that did in the Rebels, who were unable to penetrate the tall Panthers.

But this was to be the case with all of the league B teams as Maryvale finished the league, 8-0.



Carl Hayden was one of the teams which beat MHS in season play, but Steve Burke (above) and Kurt Freitag (left) seem to have the Falcons well under control.

Panthers romp home as division champs

After finishing in first place in the division, Maryvale drew Carl Hayden in the first round of the divisional meet.

In that game, Maryvale's zone defense, which was the only one in AAA basketball to hold its opponents to less than 50 points on the average, shut off the Falcon attack with 36 points.

Following that 52-36 win, the Panthers scored a 67-52 victory over the East High Longhorns to set up the final game.

Central had been a Cinderella teal, and had advanced into the finals through several upsets.

But, Maryvale was not to be upset, as Bob Stout and Ronnie Davis led the Panthers past the Bobcats, 60-44.

The win gave Maryvale the Phoenix Division championship, and sent them to the state tournament.

JV, Frosh have successful year

Both Freshman basketball teams as well as the junior varsity followed the lead set by the varsity in compiling winning years.

Both Freshmen teams ran up slates of 12-5 while the junior varsity slipped to 12-7.

The morning frosh team, coached by Coach Hall, was paced by leading scorer Mike White, while Coach Ketchum's afternoon corps was led by Roark Shirley's 18 points-per-game average.

The junior varsity coached by Mike Lange showed signs of strength for future MHS teams as all four squads added to the best season in Maryvale's brief history for basketball, winning 63 games and losing only 20.

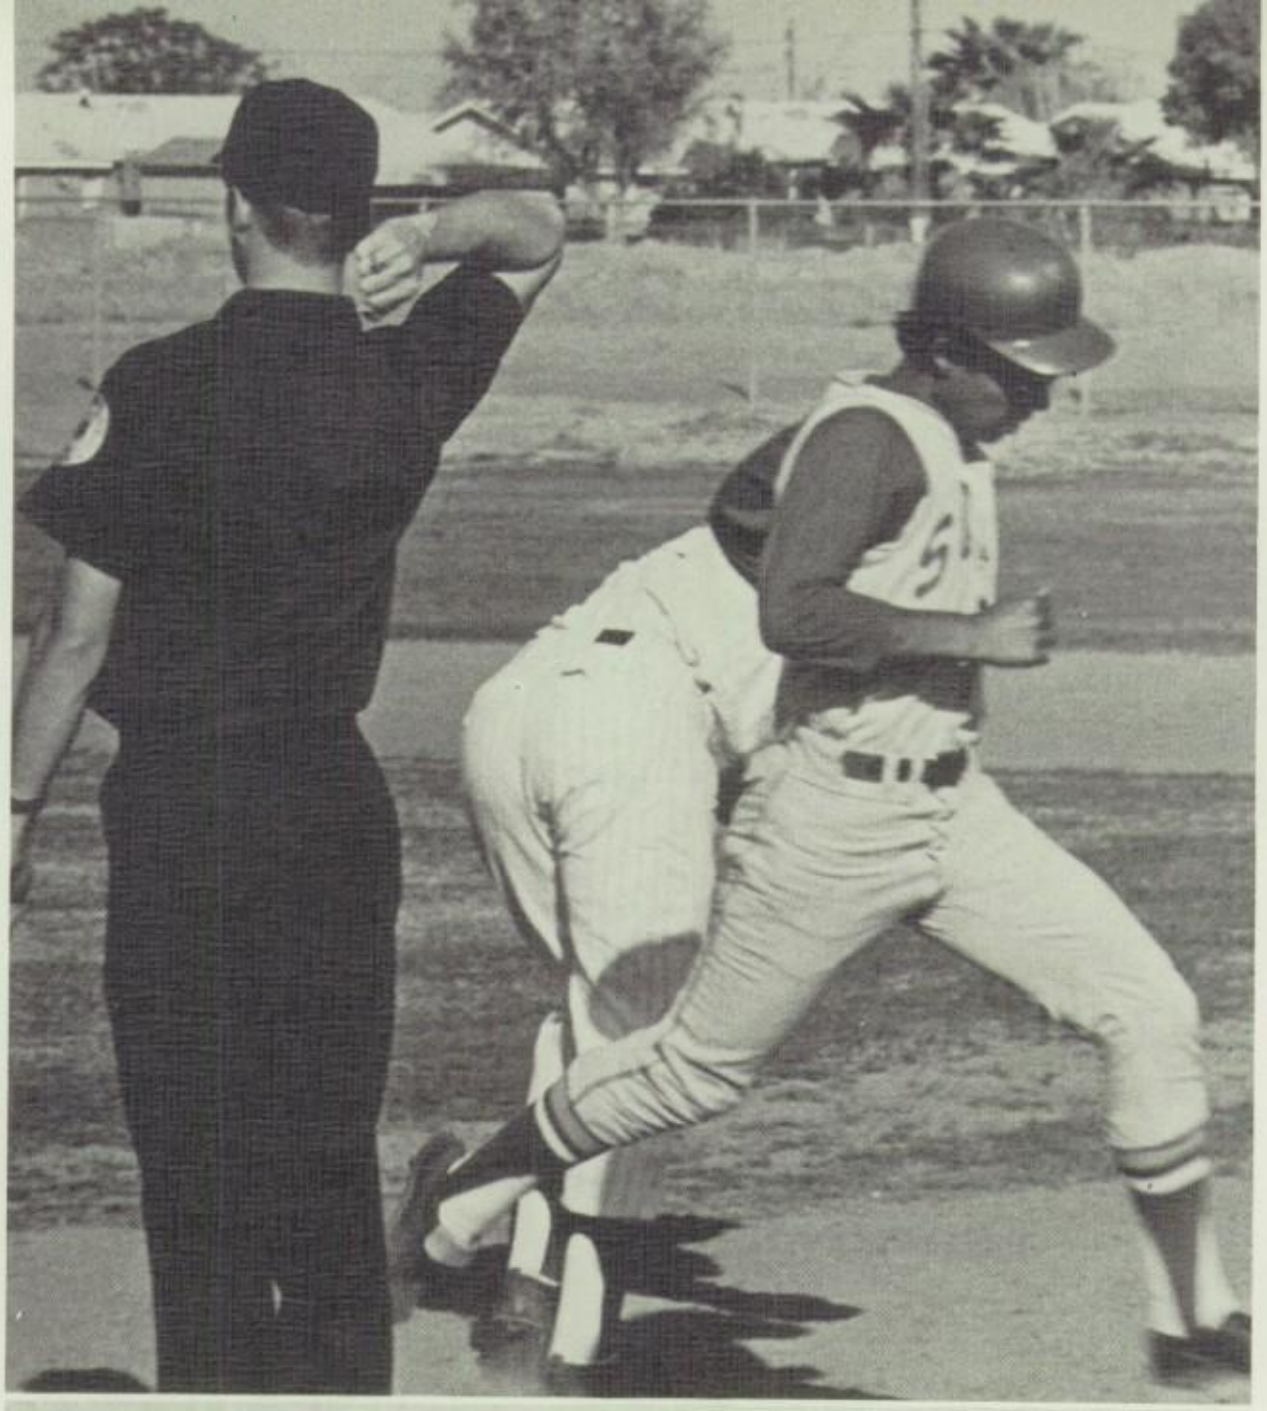
West, South become first victims of

Panthers



With a beautiful slide, Ralph Baca (left) scores against South. The South Mountain runner (top) is obviously out. Bill Vogelpohl made the play. Even during his follow through, Steve O'Brian's arm blurs.

Teams post identical 6-0 records

Practice hours are rewarded with victories for racketeers

The Maryvale tennis teams had the hot hand this year as they got off to a winning start.

Both the girl's and the boy's teams learned that although the taste of victory is sweet, in order to drink of the well-sought after beverage, hours of practice and gallons of sweat are the necessary requirements. The most outstanding players for the girl's team are Carol Walthour, Carole Marcum, and Dawn Delisle.

The top racketeers on the boy's tennis team are John Freeman, Mark Matthews, and Jon Parran. The girls were coached by Miss Keith while the boys were coached by Mr. Emmons.

MHS Golfers try driving offensively

With ecology becoming a word everyone can spell, it is natural that this club that travels about studying the ecology of different areas would interest a large number of students.

Dorothy Bender and Charles Gilbert, both avid ecologists, sponsor the club and do much of the necessary driving.

Herrick attends all games, meets in six sports

It might seem that the number of spectators at a Maryvale game was mighty small but if you added all the people who attend every single football, basketball, and baseball game every cross country and track meet and every wrestling match together you would have as many people as in the picture at left. She is Linda Herrick and she attended all the events listed above. Linda is a membership chairman and a premier member of the Pep Club. The club is dedicated to promoting school spirit. If more were like Linda they wouldn't need to.

Newspaper tries attacking issues beyond school

Walking into room 412 during seventh period could prove to be a very harrowing experience. If you get past the broom falling off the Sport's Editor's nose, the chair tumbling from the News Editor's little finger, you must then face the wrath of the Business Manager as she accuses you of stealing her Ad Notebook. An unusual day for any other class, but a relatively normal class period for the newspaper staff.

Most of this can be attributed to the extreme creativity of the people involved in the production of a newspaper. This creativity was seen in such masterpieces as several papers devoted to such issues as religion, sex, and war and peace. Included in most papers were the controversial columns of the Editor, On The Carpet, and the Student Body President, One for the O. Though not well liked they were at least . . .

Panthorian staff rushes to meet final deadlines

The funny thing about yearbooking is the hours of last minutes. This year was no exception as the staff burned gallons of oil trying to keep up with last minute deadlines. It started when the underclass pictures came in all but unidentified and the staff spent a month doing a job that usually takes a week. From there things went downhill until the final deadline when for a solid two weeks the usually mild mannered advisor Earl Stinson turned to a Superlegree and drove the staff to the fast completion of their appointed pages.

Panther Band wins superior rating at ASU competition day

"We were nervous but everyone had the attitude 'This is the year we get a 1.'"

And this is exactly what the MHS band got at the ASU Band Day this year. Robert Connolly, band director, watched his charges with a different feeling than in past years. "I was proud of them every second they were on the field." It was not easy. The band had performed the night before for the Central football game crowd at halftime and were slightly weary from that experience. When they tried to put the plumes in their hats, they found they wouldn't fit. Connolly helped ease that problem, but the plumes moulted on the field. The band's performance overcame all obstacles for a superior rating.

Satina leads orchestra in concerts for Cartwright

The Maryvale High School orchestra under the direction of Albert Satilna brought fine music to the students of the Cartwright Elementary School District in a series of concerts presented in the districts schools.

The orchestra also performed in the music department's Christmas concert.

In February, the orchestra was in concert in the MHS auditorium. With the help of concert Mistress Shelly Satonin, they performed works by Haydn, Dvorak, Mendelsohn, Mazas, Bizet, Mozart, and Beethoven as well as the pops favorite GREEN, GREEN GRASS OF HOME. Shelly was featured in a violin duet also.

Choir performs for churches during trip to Grand Canyon

Ask any member of the Maryvale Concert Choir what the most memorable time they had this year and he will tell you that the trip to Grand Canyon was the greatest experience.

Leaving Maryvale on Friday April 8, the choir toured the south rim on Saturday, then spent the night at Bright Angel Lodge. On Sunday the group performed at five churches in the Grand Canyon area and returned, tired but satisfied, Sunday night.

The choir had quite a time this year as the size required that they meet at two separate hours: half the fifth hour and half meets the seventh.

Under the direction of Charolotte Edgar, the choir performed at assemblies, concerts and at the Arizona State Fair.

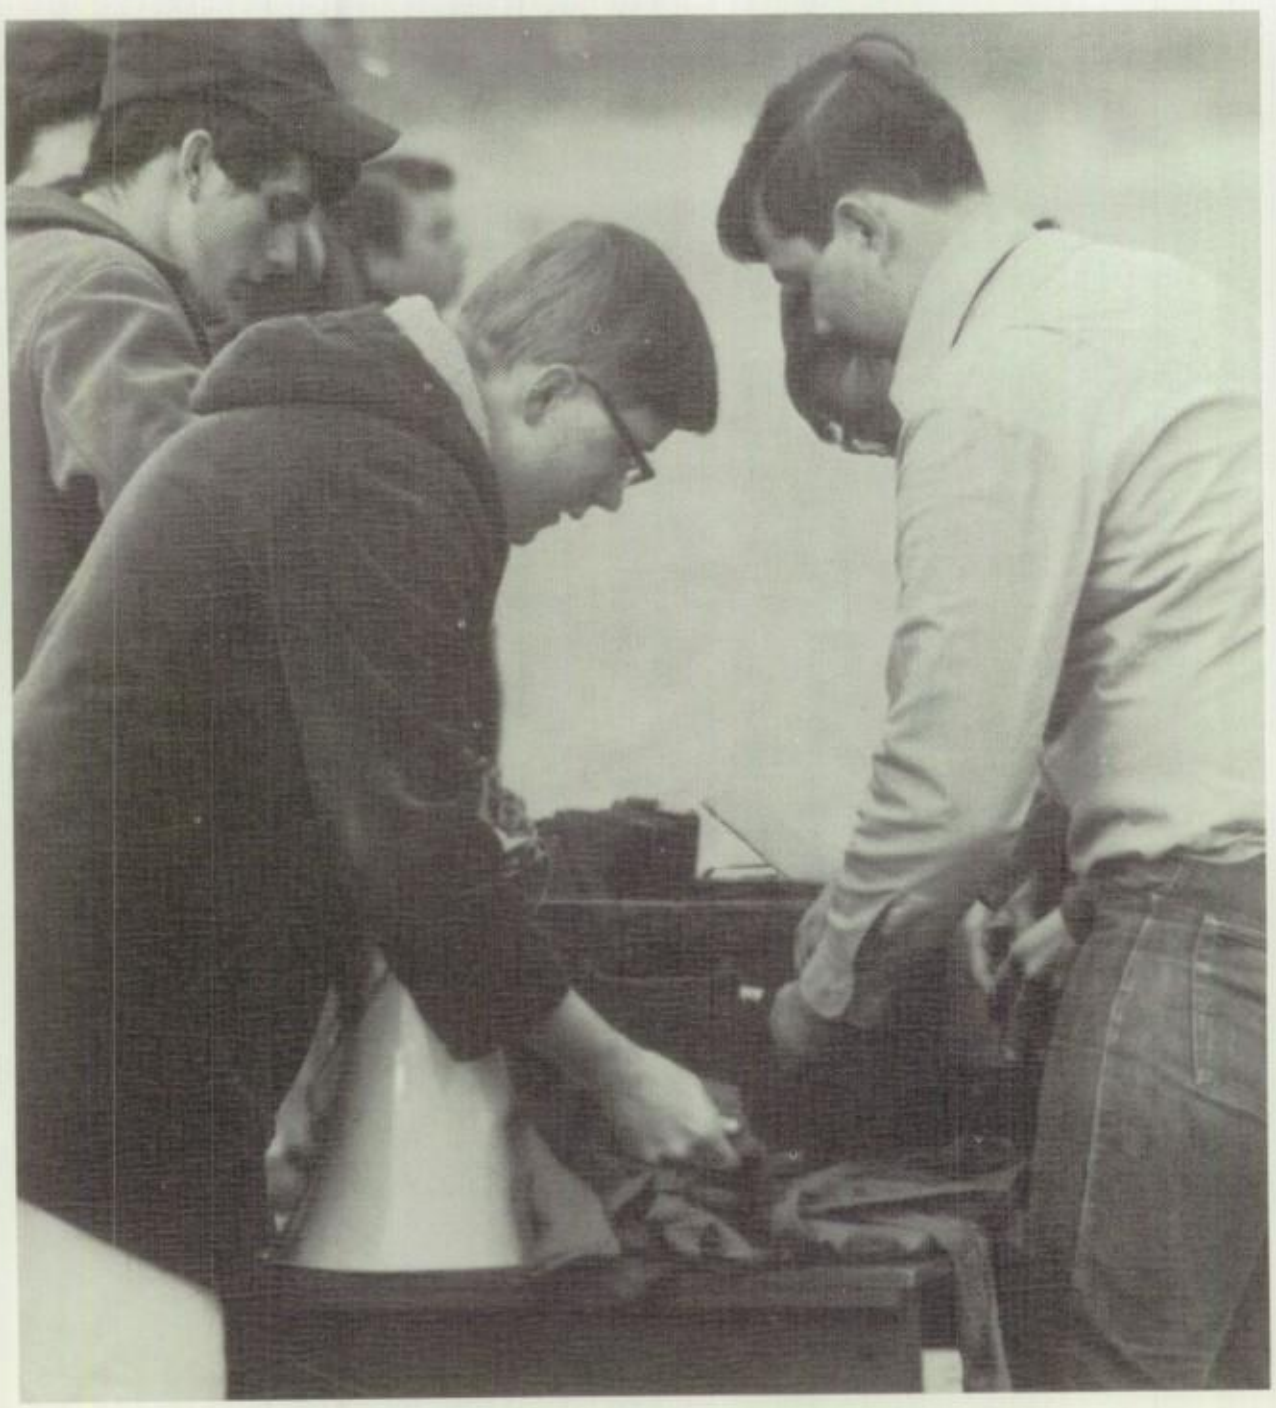
The freshman sharpshooters have done well at the Annual Big Bore Meet held at the Black Canyon Shooting Range. This event scores the riflemen in accuracy with the M-14.



Training Corps earns honors as outstanding

When Sergeant Robbins brought the high school version of Reserve Officers Training Corps to the Maryvale campus last year, no one predicted the successful response it received, but many Maryvale students took to it with such enthusiasm that the unit was cited at its first federal inspection.

In addition, the drill team and the riflemen have won award after award. This year, the Sponsor Corps that was formed last year has become quite active in its own right as well as cheering the regular cadets in their efforts.

Learning kind of people receiving a wealth of knowledge from teaching kind of people. People learning to grow becoming.
An individual, having someone help him along the way. Striving for their own perfection in their

Classes

Needing that extra push to build their minds. Knowing that they will get it from someone. Wanting that knowledge so that their minds will develop and they will become something bigger and better in the end.

It takes all kinds of people to produce a yearbook, and this year's staff is just that. It is a blend of people, each with different likes and dislikes, and these differences are reflected throughout the pages of the book itself.

As this year's editors, we have tried to show as many kinds of people as possible. We have tried to show just how unique this school is to have so many different people, and yet all can find a sense of oneness in being.

We would like to thank Roger Williams for helping us with the photography, the staff, and also a special thanks to Mr. Earl Stinson who put in those long extra hours and helped us more than we could ever repay.

We hope you enjoy our work, we have tried not to miss anyone, but with so many students, this is next to impossible.

But even if we did happen to miss 'your kind of people', just remember that we are all, in reality, one.

To a really nice person who always borrowed pencils from me in 3rd hour. good luck next year in prison-Hell fun this summer
